

Stroika Licenses

Stroika is available either under a commercial license, or under an open-source license.

The purpose of the open source license is to allow for students, academics, and open source developers to have free and unfettered access to the Stroika library.

The open source license also allows commercial developers to freely evaluate and experiment with Stroika.

The purpose of the commercial license is to allow commercial software developers to use Stroika without the encumbrances of the Gnu Public License (GPL)
